AIR ANTIFREEZE

Frost, ice, snow? Hundreds of litres of de-icing and anti-icing fluid prepare each aircraft for takeoff. Photographer Phil Carpenter looks behind the scenes at Trudeau airport.

SATURDAY EXTRA

Cold weather treatment: As snow fell last Saturday, an Air Canada Bombardier CRJ received Type 4 anti-icing fluid at the de-icing facility at Pierre Elliott Trudeau International Airport. De-icing melts and washes off snow, ice or frost. The strength of the fluid used depends on the temperature. Anti-icing is Step 2: It coats certain surfaces of the plane to prevent freezing precipitation from adhering to the surface during taxi and takeoff.

Common-law policy up for discussion

Quebec's justice minister says it may be time to review the province's family law, after a ruling by the Supreme Court of Canada that common-law spouses here have no right to alimony. The Eric-vs-Lola case involved a billionaire, but the ruling potentially affects many: More than a million Quebecers live in common-law relationships. The Supreme Court decided that those who choose to marry choose to take on the responsibilities as well as the protections of that status; those who choose not to marry avoid both. Stories, Page A4

SNC official bribed Libya, RCMP alleges

The RCMP believes an SNC-Lavalin executive — Riahd Ben Aïssa, who has since resigned — had offered $160 million in bribes to the son of Libyan strongman Moammar Gadhafi as well as other Libyan officials in order to win lucrative contracts. The information is contained in an affidavit the RCMP used to get a search warrant for SNC-Lavalin's Montreal headquarters last spring. Page A6

Major roadwork is on the way

Between the Turcot Interchange and the South Shore bridges, Montrealers should steel themselves for a lot of road construction this spring, summer and fall. Significant work won't start until April, but there will be night lane closings on the Jacques Cartier and Champlain bridges. Page A7
